How to Dye a Candle Using Alcohol Ink

Supplies

- White Pillar Candle
- Adirondack Alcohol Ink
- Alcohol Blending Solution
- Inkssentials Non-Stick Craft Mat
- Foam Applicator

Directions

1. Squeeze a line of alcohol ink, in the desired color, onto the craft mat. If you do not have a craft mat, you can use wax paper.
2. Place the pillar on its side and roll it in the alcohol ink on the mat or wax paper, completely covering it.
3. Stand it right side up and place a few drops on the top of the pillar, letting the color drip around the candle. You can use one color or use a few coordinating colors. We suggest not using too many contrasting colors as the inks will blend to create a brown color.
4. Once done, let the candle dry for 3-5 minutes. From here, if you like the design of the candle, you can stop here. To add texture, continue to the next step.
5. Place the Alcohol Blending Solution into a small spray bottle.
6. Hold the bottle about 6 inches away and spray an area of the candle once. You will see the color disperse creating a neat textured design. Be careful! Too many sprays will result in removing color from the candle. If this happens, you can recolor the area by adding more alcohol ink.
7. Once the desired look has been achieved, set the candle aside to let dry. The alcohol evaporates when the alcohol ink completely dries, so be sure it's thoroughly dried before using.
